Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, July 7, 1995 – 5:30 p.m.

Cannes

(With Jacqueline C. of Paris.)

I am here, my daughters, and I bless you. Let Jacqueline not forget that "joy attracts grace". May she be more relaxed and more receptive. She has still to advance a little for her life to change. You have – both of you – a hard road to travel, but the results will be there at the end. Do your spiritual work well; this is the most important thing. You know that I am with you and always will be. Love me enough to not see the ugly sides of life. Love your brothers and sisters for what they are: carriers of the Divine. I love you, my daughters. Be in surrender and peace. Meditate now.
