Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, May 20, 2001 – 10:00 a.m.

My daughter, you are the receptacle of our teaching, but also of a subtle energy that you are redistributing. You see that despite your ordeals, which are not negligible, your role isn't limited to being 'the pencil' as you yourself define it.

Without leaving your room, you are working to serve us. Each being on this Earth has his or her purpose; their desire to act enables us to use their latent capabilities. These sometimes find expression at a given moment in their lives and in unexpected circumstances. Their hearts must therefore guide them and urge them not to repress the noble feelings that arise in them spontaneously. It is necessary to be able to interpret signs of destiny and put them to good use.

We will not insist any further today, you must rest.

Be at peace, advance as much as possible in serenity. We don't let you out of our sight, your destiny is being fulfilled and that's all that matters.
