Thursday, May 24, 2001 – 8:00 a.m.

The Medium: Babuji, what is the underlying symbolism to this celebration [the Ascension]?

My daughter, take a higher view of things, rise above the vibrations of this world. Reach for beauty, for infinite purity. Revel in this unparalleled moment; let your heart sing, unrestrainedly. Let it be joyful, happy and released from torments.

In these moments when the Earth prays, souls in communion unite for the best. A purifying breath soothes people's minds. Times of peace are thus granted to humans – blessings in this world in madness.

May that moment come when misery will end, when hearts will open up to beauty, when this divine breath will make them grow.

It will happen, but before it does, the battle will be fierce. Courageous armies will have to stand up and undergo the attacks of an unspeakable conflict.

Thus are the rules laid down. No one can change them, only move forward under this crushing yoke.

One day, peace will reign on Earth, once all debts have been paid. The golden age will be established.

Other laws will govern space and time. This light is at the end of the road, it is there; believe it, all of you, and its reign will come.

Babuji