Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, May 26, 2001 – 8:00 a.m.

This special communication will be recognized in the future. Earthlings as a whole will have to accommodate themselves to it: it is possible to have contact with us.

Some beings have this faculty. Why not admit it? This fact always existed and, among some people, it is common and widely practised.

They also possess a wisdom transmitted over the course of time, lit by guides who are by their sides. All is simple for them; their minds are not tortured, the ancestors protect them. Their way of thinking is different from all of yours, but it is basically right even if rituals are added to it that have no relevance to our comments.

Why do your purportedly advanced societies reject what is not codified according to their norms? Human capacities are amazing, but little utilized. The moment has not come; the coming era will favour their development. These capacities will have to be used for the good of humanity – they will have to be handled with discernment. The notion of good and evil will remain, and vigilance will have to prevail to avoid excesses.

Evolution on Earth is taking place slowly, even if it is nearing a pivotal moment when everything can shift and activate the movement.

Be that as it may, a time of adaptation is necessary for human beings, who straightaway cannot be subjected to modifications that are too drastic.

They must transition carefully, and by a phenomenon of osmosis, find themselves in an element fostering this metamorphosis.
