Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, November 28, 1999 – 8:00 a.m.

Meditate, you benefit from a special transmission. A sort of recompense for your good services, above all for the love with which you do this work using precious and irreplaceable energies.

We know that does not count for you; only the fact of satisfying us makes you happy. It is an exchange of love that makes you write down words and sentences which, when put together, let us hope that you will all be able to benefit from them and that these messages will make you grow in wisdom. A phrase is sometimes enough to make you become aware of an important aspect of your behaviour that you neglect. You believe you understand and know the essential, and then, one day, some impactful words make you open your eyes. The personality of human beings is fashioned in small strokes. The same applies to their spiritual openness; mostly it takes place slowly, but grace can literally swoop upon them and carry them to heights they did not expect to reach. Be always in a state of openness of heart; may it be an offering to the Creator, who will appreciate it.
