A day will come when these stupid barriers will no longer exist between your Master and you, when at last your hearts will be able to bathe harmoniously in the divine light.

The Medium: Yes, Babuji, my reactions with respect to a human contact with him are ridiculous, you are right. I can't help it, yet I love my spiritual Master and I recognize him unreservedly, completely.

So, change on that point also, my child; it is up to you to take the first step this time...
