Don't feel worried; our contacts will continue, even if their length and frequency have to be reduced. The source continues to flow and one does not see what could stop it in the immediate future. Even an earthquake would not affect our appointment! As long as you are in a position to receive us, and since you are so willing, we will be present at the appointment. How can we tell you this better? What is important is that you spare yourself tiredness as much as possible.

This is why you should delegate and not bother about the layout, once the message is written. Your assistants are there to take over. Each one has one's respective role and manages it very well. Each one has one's respective mission and the accompanying grace. Be blessed."
