Thursday, October 28, 1999 - 10:00 a.m.

The Medium: "My Beloved, take me into a garden full of flowers and intoxicating scents. My soul needs you; it is longing while waiting for you."

You know well that we are never separated. Apart from our contacts, we are connected to one another by a kind of luminous thread. Your heart perceives it, even if your mind forgets it. You should always be in need. We love this attitude. What is more moving for us than a soul connected to this kind of 'drop by drop' emanating from us! You know well, my daughter—didn't I say it time and again —so will it be until the end of your life on Earth. Be patient, finish what you have to do; many would like to live [this type of] special relationship of ours. Continue to make your circle benefit from the vibration emanating from you, which is a kind of remedy for them."

The Medium: "Babuji, I will always be demanding you and missing you, until the end of time. Thank you for all that you give me, but the word is too weak. My heart overflows with gratitude and my soul is delighted."

"Be blessed, as well as the loving hearts around you."

Babuji