Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, March 30, 2000 – 8:00 a.m.

Fear not; as The Venerable has told you, nothing can change between us. We all wished for this to occur with him. It is the best that could happen to you, even if all that is not easy to understand.

Be like a bird that soars, making use of ascending currents.

In a way, he will be steering your life from now on. We have prepared you to arrive at that. This is another transformation taking place under his authority.

Render thanks, my dear child. One day you will realize the full significance of this situation, which your human limitations prevent you from seizing.

With time and the work operating in you, you will soon catch a glimpse of it. Here, we have all been through similar situations, where only confidence and surrender allowed us to advance.

Babuji