What is happening to you is a rare opportunity. Be fully aware of the luck you have. No life is useless, but yours has a very particular meaning. You can be thankful for having been chosen to serve God's design.

My dear daughter, I am happy to see your evolution. Even if you still have a long way to go, you have reached a critical point where there is no limit to what we can hope for. The road to the Holy of Holies is long. Be blessed for the efforts you are making; by wanting to serve us out of love, you are shaping your own evolution.

Continue as you are with The Venerable; that does not change in any way our relationship, which is 'immutable'.
