Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, September 21, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

Let's leave off here for today, my child, endure this new trial. You are so fragile. We are so unhappy to see you suffering.

I will not speak to you about patience again, you've been in this school for too long. Above all, don't lose heart; you know that you must set an example of surrender.

The Medium: I don't think I set such a good example, Babuji. I complain too often for my liking, but it is probably human.

You are doing your best and it is remarkable, we are with you, as always. We will meet again during the sitting.
