Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, October 19, 1999 – 8:00 a.m.

Think of the fragrance that can emanate from a pure heart; the doors of this chalice should not remain closed. These emanations must be allowed to waft out freely, without any restriction. This divine perfume has its raison d'être, it must benefit others. Don't forget it, nurture love and grace in yourselves so that those around you can benefit from it. Each one, according to their openness, will receive it as a gift.

The least attentive will necessarily end up being touched by this delicate scent. Watch yourselves, try to emit good vibrations so that your circle will benefit from them.

This process is important; it will enable you all, little by little, to eradicate this human tendency to stir up negative thoughts, which also get transmitted.

Make sure, for yourselves and others, to cultivate good thoughts, quickly correcting when you let yourselves be overwhelmed by bad ones. We strongly recommend that you carry out that exercise.
