Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, October 19, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

A true spiritual process involves a total self-questioning.
Step by step, we try to make you all aware of all the harmful aspects of human behaviour.

Human beings, with a few exceptions, are not beyond reproach.
They tend towards perfection, that's the path proposed to them.
It's up to each one to take this into account or not. Are they able to make an effort? It's their own cause to defend – really wanting to do it is already beneficial.
Don't lose heart; the greatest have gone through all possible torments. They too made efforts to progress. That is not easy. They are well placed to understand you all, to encourage and help you as best they can.
On no account would they only want to criticize you, but simply to open your eyes and facilitate your work so that theirs can be fully completed.
