Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, October 24, 1999 – 8:00 a.m.

The Medium: Heart of the heart, open up so that my Beloved can enter. Yet you know that only your call makes him come. Forget the rest and be totally his.

Yes, my child, it is very true – meditating with unimportant things on one's mind does not favour a quick contact, but you know the secret. Let the doors open wide, we will go through them. Do you want us to analyse the principle once again? It is the vacuum in the heart that lets grace in. By calming one's thoughts, a true 'heart-to-heart' can be established. We can settle in and do our work.

We are happy to see how fruitful these contacts are, and to what point of easiness we have arrived despite your difficulties. You have so much to endure physically, and when we see you happy in spite of everything, your joy wins us over and we also become joyful. You say that our love is the sun of your life; for us too, you are a kind of luminous star, playing its part on Earth, and which we will come and fetch when the time arrives.
