Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, October 24, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

The Medium: You are more than one sun to me, you are thousands of suns. These moments of joy that you allude to, you are the one who gives them to me when I feel my soul transported by love. This kind of intoxication is expressed by a special gaiety that I share with the souls you have surrounded me with and who live this beautiful story with me.

How could we forget you? Your soul is like that of a child waiting only for love. Even if we wanted to, we could not remain insensitive to its call for long. You ask us every day to forgive you for that which you don't do correctly and which may displease us. Rest assured, my daughter, you are not perfect, far from it, but your goodwill, your sincerity and the strength of your love cannot but make us melt and see only the good side in you.

So you see, that's how we let ourselves be softened. Don't we have to 'become as little children again to enter the kingdom of God'.
