Give thanks, my dear child, for being noticed by His Greatness.

The Medium: It all happens through you, Babuji.

Partly, but He knows on His own how to appreciate souls. Your path becomes luminous, you are advancing in our direction and that makes us happy. Continue to do your best to serve us and to love us as you do.

There are various forms of devotion; each soul has its own path, its personal approach to the Divine, which is why you feel closer to certain great mystics than to others. Your path is very simple, luminous and straightforward – it is Love. Your heart is imbued with it, it nourishes you, it sets your soul ablaze. You know well this feeling that I also knew on Earth, this love that overflows, that you cannot contain, and that sometimes escapes you. All these feelings, we know them, and we are delighted to see you embarking in the same direction.

When you are completely overcome by it, your happiness will be complete; nothing else will count for you, besides sharing it with others.
