Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, December 30, 1999 – 8:00 a.m.

We would like for an appeal to be launched on this Earth to people of goodwill, and for consciousness to awaken at the end of this century. How can one talk of progress under the current conditions, where "man is wolf to man" – the wolf being a wise animal species, compared with the evil that humans can do and the destructive means they use to shamelessly destroy anything that resists them. This situation affects us deeply and we cannot stem this devastating tide.

We suffer from the suffering of so many men, women and children who are subjected to atrocities.

How could human beings have come to this point. They will have to see this escalation through to the end and the destiny of the Earth will have to be fulfilled.

The future is not rosy, as we have already said. If you all, one day, must go through these difficult times, far away from one another, separated by life, try to remember that a unity of heart must remain in this spiritual path which is yours, and which nothing, not even time, will be able to jeopardize. You must all hold on to this vision of things.
