Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, December 31, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

Yes, you know it, a true meeting between my son and you would give me great joy. Seeing you finally together in this world would fill all of us here with joy.

We will see, when the time comes, what can be done so that the contact may take place.

F's reaction as to recent events is satisfactory. You all must indeed grow stronger to face up to anything unfortunate and unforeseeable that may occur.

Fear cannot change anything apart from reducing your strengths. You all must, on the contrary, prepare yourselves to take on your own destiny, which is not necessarily catastrophic.

We would like to be more cheerful at this year's end, but we can't change the course of time. Make the most of this double seminar and set off on a sound footing towards this 'horizon 2000', about which all and nothing has been said.

Review your objectives carefully; be more determined than ever to advance, to serve and exist truly for the love of us.

Babuji