Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, January 2, 2000 – 10:00 a.m.

Yes, my child, your wish is granted. The transformations taking place within you foster that state. As of now, on both sides, nothing more will prevent what must be; that is how we want it.

The road of life holds surprises, reversals of situations where they were not expected. Remain surrendered, as you know so well how to be at the heart level. We only want what is best for you and you must see your contract through. May your courage remain intact; it is not like you to slacken. Don't forget that you must set an example and continue to do what we expect of you.

Your life is difficult but fruitful, my child, and that is how you all must consider your lives. Your trials form you, make you advance and grow, if you know how to accept them and learn from them. On Earth there are no quiet existences without obstacles to overcome. Grace is given to you to get over particularly difficult hurdles. At such moments, turn towards the divinity that accompanies and guides you all along the way, and be thankful.
