Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, January 7, 2000 – 10:00 a.m.

You see that love is the best remedy, that it puts a balm on all wrongs. To melt in it in the secrecy of your heart, isn't that the true refuge? Nourish yourself with the divine nectar and let these moments beautify your day.

Benefit from these graces as much as you can, they are unique and restore your courage to move forward. In these privileged moments, are you not happy to be just a pencil, as you say, making use of it, but living very special states? We know that you no longer wish to set down your impressions on paper, so as to live them more intensely inwardly. We understand this and our union is only more perfect for it.

Those who read us, if their sensitivity permits, can feel all the magic of it. You would like to be able to sing a hymn to love that would reverberate over all the Earth and beyond; that's what you are doing, my child, in the secrecy of your soul, so full of Him that it can only overflow and follow the paths willed by God.
