Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, January 13, 2000 – 8:00 a.m.

Do not seek to imagine what life is like beyond the Earth; you will not succeed. You lack the main elements, which we cannot give you.

We are in a vibratory world, just like you all, but it is very different. There is no point of comparison, therefore you cannot picture it.

It is sufficient for you all to know that between the medium and ourselves communication is established on a special frequency, and that hers must change to adjust itself to ours, hence the energy utilised by the vibration of the subtle bodies at the moment of contact.

Never mind the why and the wherefores; the result is there. It requires the right person and we have her, you all have the proof in the quantity of written messages. When you come and rejoin us in worlds that are far more refined, you will realize the subtlety of the operation.

Know how to appreciate what we give you and draw all possible benefit from it.
