Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, January 18, 2000 – 10:00 a.m.

To be in a state of humility is good, but it is also good to recognize the graces one receives and to admit them to the world. We are not reproaching you, we are noticing a fact and highlighting it.

Let your group remain well united; your differences are interesting, you complement each other very well. There is no happenstance in this affair, and the newcomer is appreciated. We will call upon her services in the future.

Let her absorb these messages, which will help her not only in her spiritual life but also in the blossoming of her personality. Take good care of this young person, we recommend her to you. You have a mother's heart that cannot but unfold its unsuspected treasures. Love them all, those who come to you, for a month, for a year, or for eternity. Give without counting, my child, even if what you give is not perceived. What passes through you comes from us and can only help them, one and all.
