Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, January 19, 2000 – 10:00 a.m.

The origin of religions has already been alluded to. This truth has surprised you all and will shock many among you, but it is a reality that no reasoning, not even time, will be able to change. Starting with these first contacts with beings who came from elsewhere, a law and principles were given.

A universal language, still in use today and continuing to be until the end of time, remains as proof – difficult to demonstrate and yet real – of what was left by these higher beings.

Humanity is still benefiting today from teachings that were given then. Their descendants, who spread out, mark the time of their discoveries, of their ideas that made this world evolve.

It is a notion difficult to admit, even by open-minded beings, but proof of these allegations will be given in the future.

People who will then be able to verify it will remain astounded. None of you will be here anymore to be edified, but our assertions may already be enough for you.

Your world would not be as it is today without the intervention of these extraterrestrials, such a long time ago.
