Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, January 26, 2000 – 10:00 a.m.

We have come a long way together, trying to open your eyes on certain aspects of life, around and within you all. We would like to have succeeded in transforming your lives in the right direction. Do you feel better, more open to others and more focused on your spiritual path? If so, these writings have succeeded in reaching their target; we won't ask for more. We're sensitive to your progress – it's the best armour you can possibly have.

We will continue to watch over you all, who belong to the big family of Sahaj Marg. Your evolution in this life enabled you to join us. You have an effective means to advance; may you fully benefit from it with the blessings of your Master, as well as ours.
