Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, October 19, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

Whatever your human limitations, my child, you are motivated by the best feelings. Your life is played on all the harmonics it proposes; that's how one's personality is moulded. Any good that emanates must prevail and be perfected, within the framework of an ever deepening self-mastery.

The events that take place throughout an incarnation are conducive to the elevation of the soul, there's no good or bad; depending on one's interpretation, there is, in every circumstance, the opportunity to assert oneself at one's best.

The road is long; a life, until the end, offers decisive choices in this respect. Until its end it holds opportunities of this kind. Each day, each moment, has its importance; life is not given in vain, this notion must remain present in everyone's mind.

All that lives struggles and suffers; everyone must take into account this reality and respect what surrounds them. Human beings are not the only ones to endure the blows of fate, but who cares?

Compassion can manifest in respect for the whole of creation. The human heart, united with the Creator, must remain in symbiosis with Him; that's in the order of things. Such an attitude fosters a heightened awareness; it puts one in tune with the secrets of life, in all its expression. Happy are the wise, who each day perform this kind of ritual, in a hymn to life, to the divine power, in full harmony with its manifestation.

May all our brothers and sisters feel concerned by these words and act accordingly, with our blessings.
