Monday, November 1, 2004 – 10:00 a.m.

My child, you're not an ordinary medium, we've chosen you, and as a result your gifts have been enhanced. The familiar tone of these messages has its raison d'être; please don't hide the remarks concerning you. These writings tell a story, and without you they wouldn't exist. This being clarified once again, we can perhaps add a few pages to these collections of 'Reflections', if you can.

These messages will be received in different ways, that's in the order of things. The majority of our brothers and sisters will know how to appreciate them, and in their wisdom will realize what benefit they derive from them, deeply felt, beyond words, there lies their secret. Our aspirants trust us, so why would they doubt what we bring them, with the sole aim of helping them. We stand in the perspective of changes to come; the rebirth of our way finds its justification here, hence its flexibility to adapt to the spirit of openness these changes will bring.

Human beings don't like to be shaken in their convictions, they have their reference points and they stick to them, in general. A spiritual way is supposed to open the mind to realities hitherto unknown to the aspirant; that's the purpose of this work, so why would the aspirant refuse what is offered to them to facilitate it. Knowing how to adapt to changes when they're necessary shows a certain availability of heart and mind.

May all our brothers and sisters trust us and prepare themselves mentally for the new era, may all be blessed.

Babuji