Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, September 27, 2001 – 8:00 a.m.

To nourish itself, the soul needs clarity and simplicity. It cannot be satisfied with an intellectual speech meant to show off one's knowledge. Here, we are beyond all those conventions. We go to the essential, to touch the hearts of human beings in their deepest aspiration, where all the artifice and pretence is superfluous. Human dignity exists, and it can manifest itself in the most unexpected moments. We place our hopes in this race that must become the best ferment for a new era. Human beings cannot be completely bad; there exists in their genes a positive aspect, which is just waiting to develop.

To a certain extent, this mutation is underway; this message of hope is little known. It will take a lot of time to acquire its letters of nobility, but a new humanity is on the horizon of this world, and that's all that matters. A great cleaning will be necessary to reach that point, and all the dregs will have to rise to the surface to be eliminated.

The divine power takes the time it needs to settle its scores.

A very complex mechanism elucidates, one by one, the mysteries of the anomalies that might exist, and remedies them according to the rules and laws in force.
