My dear daughter, our two hearts are united; you are advancing towards us slowly, but you are advancing. You are caught up in the movement of life, in its rhythm, the rhythm of Earthly life, so you have to submit to it and accept it to the end.

You have no other choice at the moment. Knowing how to accept one's destiny is a great strength, and seeing in it only the positive side is a sign of wisdom.

Human beings are caught in this perpetual movement in which a determining act is sealed in the great book of eternity. Each page of this book calls for a masterpiece; will it be so? It is, in that life is an act that is something of a miracle; making it beautiful, rich in generous and unselfish gestures, all illuminated by profound faith, is another. Earth holds a very great wealth, due to the diversity of the individuals who populate it. This diversity is astonishing to observe. It's comforting to see that good counterbalances evil and that, in spite of the darkness of the picture, there is hope. A large-scale operation should take place to purify and unify humanity, enabling it to access higher levels.

A nursery of pure souls is preparing for it and seeding this soft and perfectible Earth with this movement of life that characterises it. We remain hopeful for this great future achievement, and we are working towards it.
