Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, August 28, 2001 – 8:00 a.m.

One must know the right door to open at the right time, and then plunge into oneself with delight. This refuge must be unique for each of you. Here worldly torments are removed; nothing else exists any more but the divine and you.

In this unique face-to-face, you rediscover your real selves, divested of the puerile aspects of your human persona. In this protected place, your true personality emerges; this time of repose and grace restores your strength to face life. From now on, would you be able to give up visiting this blessed place, pursuing your quest and raising yourselves a little further each day? When this process is underway, it is not easy to renounce.

Why would you give it up? Who could prevent you? This process takes place in the depths of your hearts, as a secret of God, who protects His creatures from the curiosity of their fellows.

This special relationship is a matter between Him and yourselves, nobody can live it on your behalf, or remove it from you.

Take great care of this treasure, which does not require any bank safe.

This jewel is inestimable in the eyes of humans, God alone knows its value.
