Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, July 21, 2011 – 10:00 a.m.

Come and collect yourself in 'the garden of flowers', the one inside you; it enchants your heart. Far from the noise and the many worries, here you find peace. Humans neglect this treasure; many ignore the wealth that lies within them, in these privileged places where the best is accomplished.

A true spiritual process is a boon for the whole being; going inward, meditating deeply, leads to states of inner peace, of beneficial serenity, appreciable in this troubled world in every way.

In these blessed moments, what seems unbearable fades away and peace overwhelms you.

Recharge yourself, my daughter, don't let yourself be overwhelmed like this. Don't you have in your heart the desired Eden?

Life in this world amounts to so little. Is it not 'just a breath, a nothing, and nothing more,' according to a precept of the S.E. [Spiritual Entity] of your Master.

Look reality in the face – the divine life, immutable in its creative principle, organizer of all things. See this power, it is inescapable, and it justifies the involvement of all our brothers and sisters in following our principles to advance and rise spiritually, and that in an effective manner.

May they all be fully realized in this sense.
