Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, April 1, 2002 – 10:00 a.m.

Do I need to remind you that you are making good spiritual progress? Doesn't it help you endure your physical miseries? This Easter time corresponds to a period of regeneration and revival of nature. Make sure to take advantage of the forces that benefit creation as a whole and strengthen your faith.

It is always possible to go further in this area, there are still possibilities yet to be utilized. By advancing ever more into the intricacies of divine love, your inner being becomes stronger and puts you in even greater conditions of surrender.

You know that you can progress and surpass yourself; you often notice it.

It is normal for things to be like that; you are not an exception.

You are on your way; your heart would like you to be stronger, invincible and completely guided, but this state cannot be acquired easily. It requires great wisdom, which develops with time.

We accompany you in this long process, while saving you from stumbling – just enough to not discourage you. To make no mistakes would apply to an advanced state of holiness; therefore, accept yourself for what you are today.

By continuing your practice assiduously and aspiring deeply to unite with the Master, you place yourself in the best condition.

You all have our blessings to accompany you in this work on yourselves, which concerns you as much as it does your sister.
