Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, January 11, 2004 – 10:00 a.m.

My child, when you are overwhelmed by life in this world, you have a recourse that many don't have. A spiritual universe unfolds before you with its multiple colours, attractive and delightful to your heart. In this secret garden are concealed the keys to a kingdom which cannot be easily approached. A lengthy preparation is necessary which requires the most beautiful attire resulting from a long search, aided by the effects of divine grace.

This place, where wonder develops, helps the soul that is advancing towards transcendence to array itself with all the required qualities. This preparation exhilarates it; as time passes, the soul feels lighter and forgets itself in a feeling of self-sacrifice, surrender and gratitude.

The soul does not belong to itself anymore. Being offered to divine guidance, it soars, happy that its destiny is henceforth unfailingly planned. It no longer fears the pitfalls on the way, the irrepressible disorders and human turbulence that hinder its efforts.

The soul goes forward serene and won over, following its guide, the Master who was destined for it.

In these moments of joy, it regains peace. It is on the right track and, more than ever, it must remain serene, strengthened by a confidence from which it should no longer depart. The fluctuations of material life must be put into proper perspective, which is not always easy to do, but faith must remain strong and triumph over all situations, whatever the outcome. My child, love us in the peace of your heart, to which you know the way, by persevering in this discovery.
