Saturday, April 6, 2002 – 10:00 a.m.

The Medium: Babuji, I am far, very far from your son, with respect to his elevation. He loves you above all and I, in my extreme smallness, have a heart full of you, of the love it is capable of giving, of giving you particularly.

Each one gives the best they can; the main thing is to give. Do not underestimate yourself; the power of a heart cannot be measured with human criteria. Go your own way, while letting the spark capable of lighting such a fire flash out of your heart at the right moment and for whoever will be capable of receiving it. Remain focused, these pearls are precious; be discerning, this is a rare commodity. Make good use of the treasures granted to you.

Remain in meditation throughout the day, since this day looks calm. Benefit from our blessings; keep them inside yourself, preciously. Cultivate noble thoughts; extend them to the world surrounding you.

Love endlessly, love always. This kind of speech, we do hear it, it covers the cries and the complaints. Make sure you all unite together in this process which will change the world.

Babuji