Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, December 21, 2002 – 10:00 a.m.

Relax; don't let yourself be overwhelmed by anxiety, you know how to regain serenity. Step away, take a quick review of your life and your current difficulties, and give them their relative importance. Health problems are not easy to manage, my daughter; your life is one long series of problems on this issue.

Take refuge in the Holy of Holies, in this privileged zone, which cannot be affected by turbulences; this escape is not accessible to all.

Your brother and sister abhyasis also have the chance to have this recourse, which helps them to advance more serenely in the face of the difficulties of their existence.

Our way brings an answer to the needs of the soul, in its aspiration to rise. Trials are everyone's lot; each one must overcome them with their own resources, as sooner or later they face difficulties meant to make them advance. They have no other goal but this prospect, which is not easy to understand and especially to accept.

To become incarnate on the Earth is not a choice in most cases. Beings of light come to light the way for those who advance in the darkness of ignorance.

Many are on their way, who will in turn take with them the most disadvantaged on this point.

All this is set up systematically; the most advanced helping their brothers and sisters, almost without their knowledge.

A heart full of love allows the bursting forth of this flame, capable of touching other hearts, which are in turn seized by the need to love.

The divine cause attracts the souls that are ready into a communion, which is not an empty word. God's intentions always end up prevailing over darkness.
