It is I who walks within you now. Although I have a walking stick, my step is steady – it's rather symbolic. My spirit establishes itself in you, I have a free hand in that. Don't worry, you can only gain from this cohabitation.

The Medium: What should I call my illustrious visitor?

My name isn't important, only our cooperation matters. I am a being who has emerged from a distant past and has chosen your abode. Let that be enough for you, give thanks to God for what He grants you.

Yes, angels exist, they will help you from now on. Be at peace. You will see me often and I will manifest myself through you, as frequently as necessary.

Regain physical and moral strength, you will need it to take on your mission.

That is enough for today, you have food for thought. Be blessed.
