Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, March 27, 2000 – 9:00 a.m.

Henceforth, you will have to abide by our laws. Your life is taking on a different meaning and you must go where we wish you to go, without being surprised by the directions you have to take.

You are within a strict framework and you must stay there, as you have accepted.

We trust you, as we've been observing you for a long time. In addition to your natural disposition, you are reliable, which is the reason for our choice.

When you leave this Earth, all this can be revealed. You are out of the ordinary compared to your fellow human beings, and it is better to act that way.

We know that two hearts vibrate in unison with yours and understand you. They are an anchor for you, may they be blessed for the support they provide you.

My dear sister, we feel you are making progress in accepting this new state. May it bring you inner strength and peace.

The Venerable
