Sunday, June 18, 2000 – 10:00 a.m.

Your spiritual journey is rich, it embellishes this part of your life. These contacts have opened a door that leads to a world made of true values. You don't yet realize its full importance for you and for others.

What is said is not trivial; it's a simple teaching, but it touches in you all the luminous zones unknown to you. It puts them in resonance in such a way that these echoes make the conscious part of your beings vibrate. Your senses are on alert, as are your minds. It responds and retains what seems to suit it.

It makes its own selection, and the repetition of this act broadens its understanding. Thus are small steps taken that move you all forward.

With time, you can measure the progress made.

You have left behind misconceptions, in order to acquire a healthier judgement of life, humanity and yourselves.

Continue to explore your own resources; they are unlimited.
