This big ambient noise compels you to make an even greater effort than usual to isolate yourself.

You see that you can do it and that nothing prevents this kind of contact when it must happen. You possess the key to this place and it is important to achieve the self-control that allows you to leave the world aside at any time. Our work is progressing without your being fully aware of it.

The Medium: I would like to know a little more about it, Venerable; I have the feeling I am going forward blindfolded!

It is excellent, that's what surrender looks like. Would you come and complain that we are looking after your spiritual person? You have made choices, you have to stick to them.

Are you so unhappy with our contacts and the love we give you? Then, if you are not in rebellion, let us continue to advance and you will see for yourself where that leads you.

You who dreamed of adventure in your youth, isn't this the most beautiful one you can dream of, since it does not end in disillusionment!
