Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, June 26, 2000 – 8:30 a.m.

My dear child, we've come a long way together. All these messages that have punctuated your life for ten years are interesting in many respects. They made you aware of our privileged relationship and will leave a sizeable crop. It is, for the moment, unique in the Mission, as far as I know. There are different kinds of mediums; for some it's a matter of pure fantasy.

Let us leave aside the ramblings of a few people to focus on the continuation of this 'Epilogue'; there is an end to everything here below. There will still be some beautiful pages, with interventions from each one of us, and then we will move on to something else.

We no longer need these messages to be in touch with you. In the future, you will experience these contacts in another way. Don't worry, you won't be forgotten; our relationship will be different yet equally enriching. The privileged ones who know about these writings will have every opportunity to come back to them, to immerse themselves more deeply in them and to appreciate them at their true value.

Blessings to all.
