The Medium: Babuji, are you satisfied with the last exchanges with your son?

A door is open, it is a beginning. The important thing is that he adheres to these means of communication. Not being equipped with your mediumistic faculties and not knowing you, it was more difficult for him to believe. Doubt is almost cleared up, we will see how the situation develops; nothing should be rushed.

My dear child, the Mission will continue on its way, whatever happens. This prospect must delight you and help you see beyond the current facts and appearances with regard to its evolution in Montpellier and in France in general. Upheavals are inevitable.

In any situation, what seems negative can result in new developments that often reverse the situation completely.

Sometimes you let yourselves be carried away by untimely reactions which do not get to the heart of the matter. Let us do our work, without judging. Whether concerning the Mission, an ashram or a preceptor, we know where we go and how to move the pieces on that huge chessboard.

Content yourselves with doing your work well, acting in all good conscience after due consideration, while relying entirely on divine grace and that of your Masters.
