What I was asked to do for you, I did, there is no need to revert to it. That's how we work here. We do not foster friendly relationships as you do on Earth. We help beings to fulfil their contract in the sense that this work helps them accomplish what is expected of them. Bonds of another kind are created which you cannot evaluate. You will be able to assess their scope when you come and join us. I believe I have answered your questions; your guide asked me to do so. Here, to serve is our motto and our only driving force, guided by the divine power and that of the great souls working for the good of the created worlds. We will meet again on other planes of consciousness where our collaboration will one day become effective.

Focus your life more and more on the spiritual process. Believe me, it is worth devoting the maximum of your energy to it, and you will make the thousand-sun heart of your Beloved very happy.
