Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, August 15, 2000 – 10:00 a.m.

My Revered Master was happy yesterday to show himself to you in that light. It's true, we are not sad. Haven't I already told you that 'joy attracts grace'? Don't have a gloomy faith; you must all show how happy you are with the choice you, among others, have made, of a path that suits you all perfectly. Your lives have meaning, isn't that wonderful?

One's life can be successful at the family and professional level, but you have all managed to add to yours something more, its true dimension, making you complete beings.

Your stay on Earth is short; it is a great fortune to have understood where your priorities lie. They are your wealth, we insist on this important point.

Therefore, be joyful, despite everything. Keep in your heart this small flame that lights your way and, to some extent, the way of others less lucky than you all, who benefit from your privileged position.

Make it so that your joy endures. It is proof of your commitment; do not be afraid to show it.

Babuji