Thursday, September 28, 2000 – 10:00 a.m.

The Medium: Babuji, yesterday you alluded to the work that falls to you in your world.

Why do you want me to address this question, there are few details to give. We distribute the tasks among ourselves, and the work is endless, which is not likely to reassure your fellow human beings. Our action concerns the human race and other worlds that are beyond your comprehension. You can only pray to support us in our action; that's all there is to say on the subject. You have enough to do on this Earth for yourself and for others, therefore remain focused on your own action and everything you can possibly do around you.

The Medium: Forgive me for this question, Babuji.

We know that it is not out of simple curiosity on your part, but an interest you have in our life, in where we are.

Everything in its own time; when you leave this Earth, you will have to follow another path that will lead you to your true destination. You will then be able to gauge the range of possibilities with regard to service, and you will be guided, according to your aptitudes, to make the best use of them.

This is not for tomorrow. Stay firmly rooted in the world where you are, you have not finished your work. Are you satisfied?

Babuji