Saturday, October 7, 2000 – 10:00 a.m.

Give thanks to God for having been chosen by my son. The laws of the heart are powerful. This relationship between him and you is beautiful and productive. If read attentively, the resulting series of messages provides a teaching accessible to all.

This way of love of yours – you claimed it enough – embellishes your life. Here is where it leads and what it is able to produce.

Continue on your way in this hidden fervour that stimulates you and gives you the courage to advance. Remain in the same spirit, you have my blessing.

Lalaji

My Revered Master appreciates the work done so far. We would like it to evolve differently. We await the favourable moment for that. Nothing should be rushed with human beings. You are all subjected to currents and counter-currents of various thoughts and energies. Everything must decant and settle.

Tell yourself, my dear daughter, that you have done a good job. The harvest is beautiful; you can rejoice. We know that you do not take any credit for yourself. We can express ourselves on this point without it giving you any egotistical satisfaction, and we appreciate that.

That is what we wanted to tell you today, with due respect to your modesty.

Babuji