Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, October 24, 2000 – 8:00 a.m.

In the future, a big country will open to Sahaj Marg. That will be a real benefit to it. It's many souls are ready. Its inhabitants have been suffering for many generations, and their aspiration for spirituality is great. Its pioneers will be of pure heart, happy not to be under the yoke of either a party or a religious group. We will talk about this again later; it's up to you all to use your wisdom.

My son would like to have a successor and retire to his tent, as you all say, but the time has not yet come for him. He has the required stature and experience to implement what must be prepared for posterity.

He will remain one of the great forerunners of the system, a Master of stature and a man of good sense, an architect who will have erected a strong spiritual structure in the world.

His vision of things is correct. He will have put in place basic elements for solid foundations.

We can only commend ourselves for having chosen him for this great project. His action is not finished; he is inspired to go far beyond what is now.

May the love of our aspirants, as well as the strength of ours, carry him to the pinnacle of this beautiful achievement!

You may forward this message to him; he must prepare for this grand vision of the future, which he senses already.
