Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, October 25, 2000 – 10:00 a.m.

Yes, my child, the wheel is turning. India was not always a country of great poverty. Its present good fortune resides in the concentration of a spiritual wealth that illuminates the world.

Life is movement and is eternally repeating itself. All peoples have known periods of greatness, true greatness not being material wealth.

Very brilliant civilizations, unequalled to this day and in all kinds of domains, have dominated the rest of the world.

Entire continents have been swallowed up, though this remains a fable for many minds closed to this kind of revelation.

It doesn't matter; it is a fact, but one that doesn't play a part in the current incarnations of you all.

You must all manage it as best you can; you now know all the rules from which you cannot escape.

It's up to you all to act accordingly.
