No matter what you may think, your comments in these messages are not silly; they 'humanise' them to some extent.

"Why always belittle yourself? Why do you mind other people's reactions? You are only accountable to us.

"Sometimes your comments are a plus as they make us underline or be more specific on a particular feature, which occurred yesterday.

"Move on without bothering about details of that kind. Continue to do your work as best you can; we are happy with it.

"Many are preparing to finish this century with excessive expenses, in equally excessive banquets; they are perfectly within their right.

"As for you, we hope that this kind of prospect is not amongst your main concerns. Joy, yes, why not; but, we hope you will have projects for your line of conduct on the spiritual level.

"It is the spiritual that can save the world and you are already engaged in this movement. In general, it is a period when one is tempted to take an assessment and make forecasts for the future; it is what you will be doing, we have no doubt about it."
