Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, November 1, 2000 – 8:00 a.m.

You reach a threshold where the greatest rigour is necessary. There is no more time to lose since your only wish is to attain what can be achieved while being incarnate. You know what is left to do. We have given enough information and advice on how to proceed.

We feel you are ready to take the plunge. Your heart needs it and is ready to clear the last obstacles.

We understand its aspiration and we support it. A vast area is there, ahead of it, bright and pure. It is about communing with oneself and praying before embarking on such a conquest. It is better to be self-confident to achieve it. You will not be alone when conquering this territory. We are happy to see you arrive at this level of wisdom, whereby you remain serene before the ultimate ordeal. Be at peace, prepare yourself for this future step forward. Fantasy and fear do not play a part in such a programme. It is necessary to really know where one wants to go and to give oneself every chance of success.

We don't lose sight of you, it is good to know it.
