Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, November 2, 2000 – 8:00 a.m.

Granted, it is grace that makes these messages exist, but it is your energy that makes it possible to capture them. These contacts are appreciated on both sides. To be able to express ourselves like this is not common. This teaching is special, by this means it is possible to approach you like a father would approach his children – we would like it to be seen in that way.

Our concern is to help humans. They need it. There are many ways of doing that, but this one is special. We give all of you elements to reflect on and you can use them as you see fit. It is you who hold the reins of your own lives.

Is your life exactly what you would want it to be? Not many humans would answer 'yes'. According to their criteria, they would prefer it to be different, and yet it is in line with necessity. This aspect of things must never be lost sight of.

You advance according to a predetermined plan that can be modified through your spiritual commitment. By making it evolve in this way, your perseverance changes the picture.

You never waste your time when it is dedicated to this work on yourselves.

It transforms you very profoundly, without your being able to evaluate its true richness.
