Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, November 13, 2000 – 10:00 a.m.

No, you are not going off the rails – to use your expression. What you are living is special, but you are understood and supported by a core of people you trust. The near and distant future will show them the accuracy of what we say.

A majority of people populating this Earth live in total ignorance of the reality of the created worlds and the laws governing them.

Enlightened minds move forward in life, bringing up ideas and trying to open the eyes of their fellow creatures. Many of them are not taken seriously; one must hit hard to be heard. Whatever the criticisms they raise, they forge ahead, fulfilling their mission.

They do not waste their time; wise people follow them, accepting their words and the vision of the world they propose.

These inspired beings advance the understanding of God's great designs, for which Masters come to Earth to help their brothers and sisters.

The reign of fraternity and love is not for tomorrow, but it is in the making and nothing will stop it. Since your eyes have already opened to this reality, never give up, whatever happens – you are all on the right track.
